

Remarks

The Applicant provisionally elects Group I , claims 1-5, for initial examination in this application.

In the official action, the Examiner asserts that the device of Group I could be made by a process materially different from those of the Group II invention. It is noted that this assertion has been made by the Examiner without providing any examples or other evidence to support the Examiner's conclusion. Exactly what process that would be materially different from that of claim 6 could be used to produce the device of claim 1? It is noted that the MPEP specifically instructs the Examiners to provide reasons of examples to support the Examiner's conclusions. See MPEP 308.01.

It is also to be noted that a mere difference between some hypothetical method and the method of claim 6 would not suffice to meet the test for restriction. Rather, there must be a "material" difference. Since the Examiner has not set forth any difference, much less a material difference, as specifically required by the MPEP, the Examiner's action in making the election/restriction requirement is improper and should be withdrawn on that basis.
